Profile

Production Design is the art of creating a film's aesthetic through its set. Production Designers are the architects of a film's setting. It is the Production Designer's job to interpret and create a vision for the script.

Highly motivated, personable business professional with an aspiration to continue professional growth. Possessing an innate talent for understanding space and color, with extensive experience gained in a variety of creative spaces. Experience in Production Design includes creating look books, supervising construction, physical shopping, design, fabrication, set dressing, managing budgets, and managing crews of all sizes. Working closely with other departments to create a cohesive look while working within the creative confines and within a set budget. Diplomatic and tactful with agency representatives, directors, producers, and fellow coworkers at all levels. Flexible and versatile with the ability to maintain a sense of humor under pressure and a high level of integrity.
